

IPC Alpine skiing Equipment Testing Protocol

Season 2011/2012

Ski Radius

Ski Radius is determined by examining the ski manufacturer's radius marking on the skis.

If the ski manufacturer's radius marking does not meet the regulation for the given discipline then the equipment must be confiscated and kept until the Jury makes a final decision regarding disqualification.

If any of the following situations occur then the equipment must be confiscated and kept until the Jury makes a final decision regarding disqualification:

- If any alteration of the ski manufacturer's radius marking appears to have occurred.
- In issues where a protest is submitted against a competitor's ski which refers to ski length.
